

Title information

1977/78

A Historic Season for Rangers FC and a Treble That Ended an Era

By David Herd

Key features

- Detailed account of every Rangers match from 1977/78, a season of triumph and tragedy
- Charts the off-field dramas at Ibrox, from major transfers to significant battles with the football authorities
- Pays tribute to John Greig, the man fans voted 'the Greatest Ranger', who was awarded a rare testimonial match in his final season as club captain
- Foreword by Hall of Fame legend Alex MacDonald, a key player, who scored the opener in the Scottish Cup Final
- Third Rangers book by David Herd, a well-known name in the online Rangers community
- Publicity campaign planned including radio, newspapers, websites, podcasts and magazines

Description

1977/78: The Treble That Ended An Era tells the story of a historic season for Rangers FC on and off the pitch. Captain John Greig's 17-year playing career at Ibrox ended in treble glory, and he was later voted 'The Greatest Ranger' by the fans. With another great Rangers figure as manager, the late Jock Wallace, the team made a clean sweep of domestic honours, playing entertaining and attacking football. Greig would then make the leap from player to manager, with Wallace leaving the club just days after completing the treble. Season 1977/78 was the last before the modernisation of Ibrox stadium, and saw the start of another wonderful Rangers career with the arrival of mesmerising winger Davie Cooper. It also saw the emergence of a new force in Scottish football, with the challenge from an Aberdeen team that would grow even stronger in years to come. It is a season still fondly remembered by older Rangers fans. It truly marked the end of an era and the start of a new chapter.

Details

Publication: 1 May 2023
Price: £16.99
ISBN 13: 9781801504492
Format: 222mm x 144mm
Binding: Hardback
Extent: 224 pages
Category: Football

Trade Orders to:

Macmillan Distribution (MDL),
Cromwell Place, International Business Park,
Lime Tree Way, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG24 8YJ

Telephone: 01256 302692
Email: orders@macmillan.co.uk